Professional Liability & Services

Florida Professional Liability Defense Lawyers

The legal team at Conroy Simberg is committed to defending individuals and organizations facing professional liability lawsuits. We understand the serious nature of these claims and work to limit the exposure associated with such potentially damaging litigation. Our firm represents a diverse range of professionals accused of professional negligence and misconduct, including:

- Accountants
- Architects & Engineers
- Insurance Agents & Brokers
- Lawyers
- Mortgage Foreclosure Liability
- Real Estate Professionals
- Title Agents
- Miscellaneous Other Professions

At Conroy Simberg, insurance defense is the primary focus of our firm. We have more than 45 years of experience defending insurance companies and the businesses and professionals they serve. With close to 130 attorneys practicing in Florida and Georgia, our firm has the knowledge and the skills necessary to successfully represent professionals working in a variety of fields. We combine our extensive background in insurance law with an in-depth understanding of the duties and standards required of professionals to aggressively defend our clients against professional liability claims.

Attentive to the Needs of Professionals

The attorneys at Conroy Simberg are committed to meeting the needs of professionals who have dedicated their careers to advising and guiding others. When a professional is accused of malpractice, the matter becomes personal. Our attorneys listen to our clients and take the time to fully explain the potential risks and benefits associated with all available courses of action. We carefully guide our clients throughout the entire legal process, providing them with the information and advice they need to achieve the best results in their case.

At Conroy Simberg, we appreciate that defending against malpractice actions can be stressful and taxing on our clients. Our goal is to remove the burden of complex legal proceedings from our clients and help restore their peace of mind. Mounting a successful defense against a professional liability claim requires a team effort. Our professional liability attorneys immediately meet with clients to review and evaluate the allegations against them.

We leverage our in-depth knowledge of insurance policies and products, including professional liability, errors and omissions and directors' and officers' coverage, to analyze claims and develop the best strategies and approaches. While we strive to resolve cases before they proceed to trial, our legal team has successfully defended claims against professionals in state and federal courts.

The legal team at Conroy Simberg takes pride in all that we do. We concentrate on delivering highly skilled representation and hands-on legal services to individuals and organizations dealing with malpractice claims. The attorneys in our professional liability practice understand that a great deal is at stake when a client is accused of professional negligence or misconduct. In each case we handle, we aim to achieve the best results as quickly possible, while preserving our clients' personal integrity and professional reputation.